Check the Engineering Hub for the latest FASE guidelines on online/remote course design

All guidelines and policies documents relating to standards for online/remote courses are posted on the FASE Faculty/Staff Engineering Hub. It is recommended that this resource be checked regularly as documents and notices are posted at frequent intervals.

Current Online/Remote course guidelines:

1. Course Continuity in Response to COVID-19

Other sections that you might be interested in:

1. Business Continuity Planning Information (What you need to know to work from home, and resources for moving courses online)
2. Research Continuity Planning Information (Latest around research continuity and research-stream graduate students)
3. Dean's Messages (Latest information for Engineering students, faculty & staff from the Dean)

💡 What is the Engineering Faculty & Staff hub? The Engineering Faculty & Staff Hub is your place to find administrative information and resources, discover what is happening around the faculty and connect with the community through an online bulletin board.

≡ MAIN 🛡 UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO | Engineering

Engineering Faculty & Staff Hub

Administrative Resources   Research Hub   Resources for Instructors   Get Involved   Community Posts   f 🐦 📷 ▶

The Engineering Faculty & Staff Hub is your place to find administrative information and resources, discover what is happening around the faculty and connect with the community through an online bulletin board.

COVID-19: Faculty & Staff Info

Business Continuity Planning Information »

What you need to know to work from home, and resources for moving courses online.

Research Continuity Planning Information »

Latest around research continuity and research-stream graduate students

Course Continuity in Response to COVID-19 »